Nursha Project™

Greetings Sara,

We trust that this message finds you well and enjoying 2010 summer! It's an honor to invite you to this iteration of our newsletter; packed with information and opportunities to participate in Nursha Project activities. We look forward, as always, to sharing space with you in manifold ways; join us for an event, make a donation, explore our artists through social media platforms, share our offerings with your community, purchase merchandise or simply hold the NP community in positive consciousness as we continue to take new risks in solidarity. Know that we're grateful for you, your presence, and your continued support!

Enjoy,

The Nursha Project Team

We are proud to introduce Nursha Project Artist Mia Marcus, Photographer.

Born and raised in New York City, Mia Marcus' early interest in photography was inspired by the NYC music scene. Her ambition to become one of the top female photographers in her field has driven accomplishments such as being featured in the Source Magazine, GO! Magazine and working as a contributing photographer at HOT 97.1. To read more about Mia, click here.

Author)

Purchase

definition: Aya de Leon definition: Aya de Leon looks at the process of Bay area spoken word artist Aya de Leon, whose work is at all times political and certainly fresh. Whether dissecting images of women in hip hop, or exposing the constructs of gender and beauty, Aya de Leon makes you think, makes you laugh, makes you cry, makes you listen. To read more or to purchase, click here

* Directed by Jennifer Ongiri

Produced by Marla Renee Leech and Shalonda Ingram

Make checks payable to Nursha Project and mail to:
Nursha Project (East)
748 Putnam Ave.
Brooklyn, NY 11221
MEMO: Get Into It (or any NP production of your choice)

Cash donations may also be contributed at any Nursha Project event!

Queer Art Impact

Established by NP Founder Shalonda Ingram and Brooklyn-based Mat Heggem, Queer Art Impact \(QAI\) explores the conversation between politics and art. The New York City-based initiative is intended to bring together individuals and organizations who self-identify their body of work as queer. By presenting artists whose works challenge the hetero-normative, QAI seeks to embrace self-identified queerness and create opportunities for all artists, living in the political and social fringe, to move to the center. To learn more, click here.

Stay tuned for QAI events such as Come As You Are, New York!

A new collaboration between Shannyn Vicente and Shalonda Ingram, Viewpoint explores a shared desire to live into the truth of loving through and across the lines of fear, anger, and mistrust. It is a commitment to move through the ever evolving painful realities of the social constructs that binds, traps, and perpetuates dis.ease in the mind. To learn more, click here.

ONGOING COLLABORATIONS

NP continues to serve as a conduit for artists, technicians, and organizations within our network. To learn more about some of these organizations, click below:

El Puente, a human rights institution that promotes leadership for peace and justice through community engagement.

FIERCE, a community-based organization dedicated to the empowerment and leadership development of LGBTQ youth of color in New York City.

Young Women's Health Leadership Summit at University of California, San Francisco, empowering young women to be leaders of the next generation!
